

Gynaecologist, Norway

We are currently looking for motivated specialists, preferably with some years of experience as specialist doctors within the field, who are interested in moving to Norway.

Health care in Norway is characterised through a high general competence, and generously dedicated time for each patient, which in turn allows doctors and coworkers to work thoroughly and spend enough time with patients.

We are looking for a specialist who is interested in working within a multidisciplinary environment. You are a good contributor to create a positive work environment and you excel at patient care.

Professional requirements:

Medical license and specialist approval from an EU country.

Specialist doctors within gynaecology, preferably with minimum two years of experience as specialists.

Being able to handle a wide patient group with a big variety of diagnosis

Personality:

You have a genuine interest to work and live in Scandinavia with your family.

You have a humble approach to new experiences at the same time as you are ready to take on responsibility to fulfil projects, such as completing the language course

You're able to work in a team where all members, no matter the professional background, are equally important.

You're able to handle situations of stress well. Emigration is a big but rewarding step. Although it can be a little stressful at first

We offer:

Professional headhunters.

Partnership with solid local partners.

Free language course, done through Skype with a private tutor

Professional support during the whole recruitment process.

Information customised to you.

Flexible and fair cooperation.

Help with relocation such as accommodation, schools, kindergartens, and more.
