

Paediatric Emergency Medicine Consultant, Ireland

Location: Dublin

Salary: €227,681 - €280,513 per annum

We are currently seeking a dedicated Paediatric Emergency Medicine Consultant to join our committed team at Children's Health Ireland (CHI) in Dublin.

CHI is the national centre for paediatric emergency care, delivering specialist services to children and young people from across Ireland. The Paediatric Emergency Department at CHI sees over 30,000 attendances annually, making it one of the busiest and most advanced paediatric EDs in the country. The department manages a wide spectrum of presentations, from minor injuries to complex critical cases, and plays a central role in the acute paediatric network.

As part of CHI, you will be working in a highly supportive, multidisciplinary environment that places strong emphasis on:

- * Structured training and education for NCHDs and trainees
- * Research and innovation in paediatric emergency medicine
- * Quality improvement and service development initiatives
- * Collaborative, family-centred care

Primary responsibilities include:

- * Providing clinical care and overseeing governance for all ED patients
- * Providing strategic leadership within paediatric emergency services
- * Fostering a culture of mentorship, teaching, and collaboration within the Emergency Department
- * Participating in the Emergency Medicine department rotas
- * Collaborating effectively with all other consultants within CHI to ensure the delivery of high-quality emergency care

Requirements:

- * Registered or eligible to register with the Irish Medical Council (IMC) under the Specialist Division
- * Relevant experience as a Paediatric Emergency Medicine Specialist/Consultant
