

Specialist Rheumatology, Norway

Location: Østfold, Norway

Are you a rheumatologist looking for new professional and personal opportunities in Scandinavia?

On behalf of a public hospital in Østfold, Norway, we are recruiting a specialist in rheumatology to a full-time permanent position. This is an excellent opportunity to join a well-established department with a high level of professional competence, a supportive environment, and modern facilities.

About the role:

You will join a rheumatology department that includes a well-functioning outpatient clinic, day care services, an osteoporosis clinic and a team of skilled professionals. The hospital places strong emphasis on quality of care, multidisciplinary collaboration and continuous improvement.

There are opportunities to contribute to clinical research and academic development in cooperation with the hospital's research department. The working hours are mainly during the day, with occasional shifts extending to 8 p.m.

Responsibilities:

Outpatient assessment, diagnosis and treatment of patients with rheumatological conditions

Follow-up of chronic patients and new referrals

Collaboration with other specialists and health professionals

Participation in internal training and development sessions

Contribution to ongoing quality and improvement initiatives

Participation in the department's duty schedule

Requirements:

Authorisation to practice as a medical doctor within the EU.

EU certification as a rheumatologist

Strong English communication skills

Willingness to learn Norwegian (we offer free language training)

Motivation to relocate and contribute to the Norwegian public healthcare system

Experience with outpatient care and teamwork in a hospital setting

The hospital offer:

Permanent full-time position at a modern and development-oriented hospital

Structured and goal-oriented professional development

Inclusive and supportive work environment with high professional standards

Organised supervision and clinical guidance

Opportunity to participate in research projects

Excellent pension and insurance schemes through KLP

Employee welfare benefits and a mentorship program upon start
