

Emergency Medical Specialist, Sweden

You will work at the emergency department with the treatment of all patient categories in special emergency medical care teams, but also in the management function together with a senior nurse.

You are actively involved in improvement and change work in the process and flow groups. You will also teach our specialist training doctors and freshly graduated doctors. The job takes place both at the emergency reception, CDU and IMA (when it has been expanded).

Your skills:

Certified physician with specialist expertise in emergency care is a requirement. Experience of anaesthesia / IVA is meritorious. We attach great importance to personal qualities, such as stability and good teamwork.

The process:

If the first selection will be positive, you will be invited to this hospital for visit, interview and much more information about this position.

After you have finalised your language course, you move to Sweden and start your new job. During the time of the studies, we have organised a place for you to live, a school/daycare for your children and helped you to register in Sweden.

The salary is around 72 000 sek before taxes depending on your experience. You must have in mind that you will not be working as a consultant from start. You will have to come in the flow with the Swedish language, learn the system, the protocols etc... The faster you do this, the faster you will see changes on your bank account. Despite this, the first 6 months normally is set.
