

Paediatrician for a regional hospital, West Flanders, Belgium

One of our clients is looking for a skilled and passionate paediatrician. The hospital has six paediatricians and they are looking to strengthen the team for expansion of the department. The hospital has 234 recognised beds and employs about 700 people. The mission of the hospital is to "Offer a broad spectrum of quality and patient-oriented care". It does this in close cooperation with primary care and with categorial, supra-regional, and university partners.'

What are you going to do?

Together with the other paediatricians you will form a close team and actively participate in the further development of the paediatric department in the hospital.

You will be working as an all-around paediatrician, both, clinically and outpatient. In the consultations you will provide tests such as skin prick tests to check for allergies, lung function tests for respiratory problems and uroflow tests for urinary problems. In this dynamic environment you will also engage in emergency admission, obstetrics, maternity and the premature ward. For equality and continuity of care you will daily rotate between these departments. If you have a sub-specialty, it will be discussed whether you can use it as much as possible.

This is you:

You have completed (or nearly completed) your paediatrics studies

You are able to organise your own work

You like to work in a team

You have excellent communication skills

You like to take initiative in your own professional development

Reasons for choosing this job:

Income based on performance up to € 200,000 gross per year (full-time)

Work full-time or part-time is negotiable

Determine your own holidays

Working as a self-employed specialist

Living and working in an area close to beautiful cities and the Belgian coast
