

Specialist in Rheumatology, Sweden

We are currently seeking specialists in rheumatology for permanent positions in southern Sweden. As a rheumatology specialist, you will play a crucial role in diagnosing and treating patients with a variety of musculoskeletal and autoimmune conditions. You will work in a multidisciplinary team and have the opportunity to both treat patients in outpatient and inpatient settings. There is also a possibility of mentoring residents and if you are also a specialist in internal medicine, you may be involved in on-call duties.

We are looking for someone who:

Holds an EU-recognised specialist certification in rheumatology.

Has experience managing complex rheumatological cases in both outpatient and inpatient settings.

Possesses strong communication skills in English, with a willingness to learn Swedish.

If you also hold a specialisation in internal medicine, this may add further flexibility to your role, especially in on-call services.

What the hospital offers:

A modern and supportive workplace with a patient-centred approach.

A collaborative environment working in multidisciplinary teams.

Flexible working hours and a balanced work-life environment.

Opportunities for professional growth, including potential leadership roles and involvement in research.

What we offer:

Ongoing support from a recruiter before, during, and after your employment.

Assistance with obtaining Swedish authorisation and specialist approvals, if required.

Help with accommodation and travel arrangements, including support for your family, if necessary.

Access to a free language course with a private tutor via Teams/Skype.

Living in Southern Sweden:

Southern Sweden offers a beautiful combination of coastal landscapes, charming towns and vibrant cities. With a mild climate and easy access to cultural experiences and outdoor activities, the region is perfect for those seeking a balanced and fulfilling lifestyle.
